

U.S. Department of Commerce, International Trade Administration

The International Trade Administration (ITA) has been using GTAP since 2006. The primary use of GTAP by ITA has been in response to internal U.S. Government requests generated within ITA or other agencies. Trade Policy and Analysis is the primary unit within ITA that has used the GTAP model, but the SelectUSA unit is currently investigating applicability to its investment analysis and research.

GTAP-Related Activities, 2016-2017

In the past year, GTAP has been used for internal analyses pertaining to a variety of current and proposed U.S. government policies and programs, some of which were presented as part of high-level briefings for policymakers within the Department. ITA has also been using GTAP to estimate the dollar value of agency activities as part of an ongoing program evaluation project.
