I. Proposal Overview

The Center for Global Trade Analysis, Purdue University, in cooperation with the University of Bordeaux propose to host the 2023 Annual GTAP Advisory Board Meeting and 26th Annual Conference on Global Economic Analysis on the campus of the University of Bordeaux from June 12-16, 2023.

a. Co-Organizers

Center for Global Trade Analysis
Purdue University

The Global Trade Analysis Project (GTAP) is a global network of researchers and policy makers conducting quantitative analysis of international policy issues within an economy-wide framework. GTAP is coordinated by the Center for Global Trade Analysis, which is housed in the Department of Agricultural Economics at Purdue University. The Center for Global Trade Analysis' mission is to provide leadership in economic policy analysis through better data, fostering collaboration, and research. The centerpiece of Global Trade Analysis Project is the GTAP Data Base, a fully documented and publicly available, analytical data base for the global economy, which contains detailed country data, linked through bilateral trade, transportation and protection. Accompanying this data base is a set of GTAP-based models used and developed by network members. The GTAP Data Base and analytical framework are used by thousands of researchers around the world. Originally, the majority of the research was related to international trade policy issues. Today, GTAP is still the most widely used tool for trade policy, but its use has expanded into poverty, international migration, foreign investment, climate change, environment, energy, and biofuel policies. GTAP has become a common "language" for many of those conducting analysis of global policy issues with GTAP-based results becoming increasingly influential in decision making around the world in trade, climate change, energy and the environment. Further information can be found at www.gtap.agecon.purdue.edu.

The University of Bordeaux is ranked among the top French universities for the quality of its education and research. A multidisciplinary, research-focused, international institution, it leads an ambitious development program with its partners to further promote Bordeaux as a "Campus of Excellence". The College of Law, Political Science, Economics and Management promotes a policy of innovative, ambitious education that strongly interacts with the socio-economic environment. The college offers over 150 courses to its students, who are based in five Campus sites in Aquitaine (Pessac, Bordeaux Bastide, Bordeaux Pey-Berland, Agen and Périgueux). Students receive high-level teaching with a research-based approach. The college has established itself as a major actor within the region via local partnerships, and has also developed a strong international outlook. Two economic research centers within the university, GREThA (<https://gretha.cnrs.fr/>) and the LAREFI (<https://larefi.u-bordeaux.fr/>) will provide financial and logistical support for the conference. Further information on the University of Bordeaux can be found at www.u-bordeaux.fr.

b. Conference Background

The goal of the conference is to promote the exchange of ideas among economists conducting quantitative analysis of global economic issues. Particular emphasis will be placed on applied general equilibrium methods, data, and application. Related theoretical and applied work is also welcome.

c. Conference Format

The majority of the conference will feature concurrent, specially organized and contributed paper sessions. The organized sessions will be developed by members of the GTAP Network to highlight a specific research area. The contributed paper sessions will be selected through a peer review process and subsequently grouped to reflect the varied themes being addressed by members of the GTAP Network. The conference will also include plenary sessions, featuring distinguished intellectual leaders in their respective fields whose presentations are designed to introduce participants to new topics as well as provide fresh insights into familiar ones. The content of these sessions will reflect the overall conference themes.

d. Thematic Focus

The proposed sub-themes of the conference follow and will evolve as planning progresses to address relevant questions of interest for GTAP research community.

- Agri-food standards and regulations, and participation of developing countries in global value chains
- Competitiveness and the role of market structure in food and agricultural sectors at the global, regional, and local levels
- Sustainability of food systems in times of climate change and pandemics
- Inclusivity of trade liberalization and the political economy of trade reform: a developing country perspective
- Filling data gaps in trade, prices, and market structure (especially in developing countries)
- Future of regionalism and multilateralism
- Impact of globalization on consumption patterns and diet diversity

e. Program Committee

Dominique van der Mensbrugghe, Director and Research Professor at the Center for Global Trade Analysis, Purdue University and Antoine Bouët, Professor of Economics, University of Bordeaux and Senior Research Fellow, International Food Policy Research Institute, will serve as the conference co-chairs and assemble a program committee to help identify and secure plenary speakers, organized sessions, and funding sources. The program committee will meet during the 25th Annual Conference in June 2022 to begin discussing these items, with follow-up discussion over email.

III. Logistics

The Center for Global Trade Analysis will play the lead role in the planning and logistics of both events.

a. Dates

The proposed dates for the events are:

GTAP Advisory Board Meeting: June 12-13, 2023 (Monday-Tuesday)
GTAP Conference: June 14-16, 2023 (Wednesday-Friday)

b. Venue

The proposed venue for both events is the University of Bordeaux, Place Pey Berland. This property complex which dates from the end of the 19th century is located in the heart of Bordeaux, near the Saint André cathedral. It is the historical site of law, political science, economics and management sciences.

c. Travel

The University of Bordeaux is conveniently located in central Bordeaux. Note that where listed, all costs are in USD.

i. Airfare

The table below provides estimates for roundtrip airfare to the Bordeaux–Mérignac Airport. Pricing represents the average cost of flights in June with the shortest duration, per Expedia (September 2020, pricing quoted during COVID).

	Bordeaux
	Economy	Business
Washington DC	$830-2,100	$10,000+
Sao Paolo	$700-1,200	$2,900-3,900
Paris	$175-225	$500-600

ii. Ground Transportation

- Train (Paris to Bordeaux) - It takes an average of 4h 27m to travel from Paris' Charles de Gaulle Airport to Bordeaux by train, over a distance of around 324 miles (521 km). There are normally 21 trains per day travelling from Paris Charles de Gaulle Airport to Bordeaux and tickets for this journey start from €10 when you book in advance.

- Taxi - Taxis are available daily at Bordeaux Airport from the first to the last flight of the day outside Hall A. An average trip to the city center costs approximately €30 (day) - €45 (night).
- Uber – Uber serves Bordeaux. An average trip to the city center from the airport costs approximately €35.
- Bus - Access to Bordeaux Airport by bus is via Lianes 1, which serves the city center of Bordeaux and Mérignac as well as the train station, and offers connections to the city's tram lines.

iii. Visas

For those participants requiring a visa to enter France, the Center for Global Trade Analysis will provide the necessary supporting documents, including invitation letters, for inclusion with the visa application. As of September 2020, the French government's visa website provides complete information on the requirements and steps involved in applying for and obtaining a visa. Further details can be found at https://france-visas.gouv.fr/en_US/web/france-visas/.

iv. Lodging

Upon approval of this proposal, the Center for Global Trade Analysis will contact nearby hotels at differing price points to establish group blocks.

d. During the Conference

The Center for Global Trade Analysis will arrange to have ample staff available at the registration desk to assist participants during the conference in addition to directional signage to help guide participants around the conference venue.

e. Post-Conference Event

In keeping with the tradition of offering a post-conference networking event, the Center for Global Trade Analysis will explore options for a day trip to one of Bordeaux's famous vineyards for a tour and tasting.

IV. Budget

The Center for Global Trade Analysis will assume full control over the conference budget and will strive to finalize all details by mid-October 2022.

a. Revenue

The conference budget is currently comprised of one main source of revenue – the conference registration fees. VI. Abstracts/Papers and Organized Session Proposals

The Center for Global Trade Analysis will coordinate all aspects of the submission processes from solicitation to acceptance.

a. Submission

All submissions must be entered on the GTAP website and will be accepted from early November through mid-January prior to the conference. Late submissions will not be accepted.

b. Abstract Reviewer Selection/Solicitation

The Center has a list of potential abstract reviewers that are solicited each year for their assistance with the review process. The Center will request reviewer participation in early December prior to the conference. All submissions will undergo the standard review process.

c. Abstract Review

The Center will coordinate assigning abstracts to each reviewer based on the topic(s) of the abstract and the interest area(s) of the reviewer. Once complete, each reviewer will be emailed details for posting their reviews online by the mid-February deadline.

d. Abstract Selection

After the abstract review deadline, the Center will compile the average score for each abstract, and based on data from previous conferences and the capacity of the conference venue; decide how many abstracts to accept. Once the list is finalized, the Center will email each presenter notifying them of their status by late February/early March.

e. Final Paper Submission

Final papers for all accepted abstracts must be submitted on the GTAP website no later than mid-April. Late submissions will not be accepted and will be removed from the conference program without exception.
